MRS. A. W. HICKLIN,

PHYSICIAN AND ELECTRICIAN,

No. 91 Front street, (up stairs), one door north of Knaps' Brick Building.

MRS. HICKLIN WILL CURE ALL ACUTE AND Chronic Diseases with Electricity and Water, without the use of medicines, and will apply the Electricity according to Prof. W. H. Wells' theory. Mrs. H. is experienced in the practice of medicine, but has done away with it entirely, believing that ELECTRICITY IS THE ONLY SAFE REMEDIAL AGENT for the Cure of Diseases. Medical men generally suppose that there are many causes for the various diseases in existence, and that disease may have various causes in nature to produce it. We contend that there is but one grand cause for all disease, and this is a loss of balance of the two sources of Electricity in the part or parts diseased.

We apply the current with sponges and never shock the patient, and would have you bear in mind that we have one of Prof. Wells' Health-Current Electro-Galvanic batteries, and can purify the blood, remove all impurities, build up and give tone to the system. We can cure the worst cases of Rheumatism, Sore Eyes, Dyspepsia, and all other curable diseases that the human family is subject to. While the grasping part of society say they have no faith in women, we tell them we do not require any faith, but just give us a trial. You need not ask your physician if it will do you any good, for he knows nothing about the use and principles of one of Prof. Wells' batteries.

We are also prepared to Board and Lodge those who come for treatment, and will spare no pains in supplying the best hygienic fare. We shall require terms of board invariably in advance. All communications in regard to treatment, should be addressed,

Laws of the Hawaiian Islands.

We are requested by Col. McCraken, Hawaiian Consul, to publish the following Acts of the Hawaiian Legislature, which will be of interest to those doing business with Honolulu and others:

AN ACT requiring Consular Certificates to be attached to invoices of goods imported from foreign countries.

Be it enacted by the King and the Legislative Assembly of the Hawaiian Islands in the Legislature of the Kingdom assembled:

SECTION 1. That there shall be attached to all invoices of goods imported into this country from any port within the consular jurisdiction of any of His Majesty's consuls or commercial agents, an oath and a certificate in the following form:

CERTIFICATE TO INVOICE.

I —— of —— do solemnly and truly swear that the invoice now produced and hereunto annexed, contains a true and faithful account of the goods, wares and merchandise therein described, at their market value at —— at the time the same were procured, and of all charges thereon, and that the said invoice contains no discounts, bounties or drawbacks, but such as have been actually allowed.

(Signed)

I —— His Hawaiian Majesty's Consul for —— do hereby certify that on the —— day of —— of the year —— personally appeared before me —— who subscribed and swore to the above; and I further certify that I am satisfied that —— is the person he represents himself to be, that he is a credible person, and that the statements made by him under said oath are true.

[Seal] (Signed) ——

H. H. M's. Consul.

And that it shall be lawful for such Consul or Commercial Agent to charge and receive from the person requiring such certificates, as for his own proper fee or reward, the sum of $1 on all invoices under $500, and $2 on all invoices of $500 and upwards.

SEC. 2. It shall be lawful for any Collector of Customs in this Kingdom, on the presentation of any invoice purporting to be shipped at any port where one of His Majesty's Consuls is resident, when said invoice be not attached to the oath and certificate, as in the preceding section set forth, to cause to be added to the invoice 25 per cent., and the duties shall be collected on the said increased valuation.

SEC. 3. This law shall take effect as regards all invoices of goods shipped by vessels sailing from ports on the Pacific coast of North America after the full expiration of three months from the date of its publication, and as regards those shipped from ports in North America after the full expiration of six months from the date of its publication; and upon all invoices of goods arriving from other ports after the full expiration of one year from the date of its publication.

Approved Dec. 30th, 1864.

THE NAME OF ILLINOIS.—The Chicago Post says the name of the State of Illinois originated in this manner:

A party of Frenchmen set out upon an exploring expedition down the river, which they afterward named, providing themselves with bark canoes, and relying chiefly for their subsistence upon the game. They found at the confluence of this river with the Mississippi, an island thickly wooded with black walnut. It was at a season of the year when the nuts were ripe, and this party of explorers, encamping upon the island, greatly enjoyed the luxury of this fruit. From this circumstance they called the island the "Island of Nuts," or, in French, "Isle aux noix,"—which name was given to the river which they explored, and thence to the Territory and State. This explanation of the word "Illinois" more fully accords with the orthography of the word, which is certainly a French termination—and the rapid pronunciation of the French "Isle aux noix" would naturally lead to the Anglicism of the term into its present shape, "Illinois."

MORE THAN SAVAGE BRUTALITY.—We heard a day or two ago, says the Evansville Journal, the narration of one of the most inhuman and fiendish acts of guerrilla barbarity that could possibly be conceived. Capt. Davidson, as the story goes, met a negro soldier on the road, and after capturing him, cut off both his ears close to his head, and then released him. When reaching the first house on the road, the fiend Davidson procured a needle and thread and sewed the negro's ears together. At the first town he came to he went to a whisky shop and treated his men, and after they had drank, Davidson asked the barkeeper if "Lincoln skins"—the name the rebels usually apply to greenbacks—"would pay for whisky?" "Oh, certainly," said the bar tender, whereupon the brute Davidson threw upon the counter the ears of the negro soldier, remarking, "Well, take your change out of that, then." Surely such a fiend incarnate should be hunted from the earth like a wolf or a mad dog.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 11, 1865.

Undeveloped Oregon.

There is a vast extent of country almost unexplored and supposed to be rich in minerals as well as in part adapted to agriculture within the bounds of the State of Oregon. East of the Cascade mountains, south of the line of Burnt river and Canyon City, there are no settlements to speak of, no prospecting has been done to test the fact if precious metals are found there, [illegible] that [illegible] the whole section south of the line named, to the northern boundary of California and Nevada.

The people of Albany, Eugene, Salem, Umpqua and Jacksonville, each are projecting roads across the mountains to open the mining region of the Blue Mountains, Boise and Owyhee for their products, and their interests are at stake as are the interests of all in the [illegible] extermination of the [illegible] tribes of Snake [illegible] or Bannacks who infest that whole region [illegible] who call it their own, and are a terror to all [illegible]. Indian depredations are never committed north of the line mentioned on the Canyon City road and on Burnt river. They are repeated every season, and are reported to have commenced already the present spring.

If a list of the men who have been murdered during the last three years by these Indians, could be presented to the public, it would be astounded. Many who have been coming on the California trail for Idaho or eastern Owyhee, have been killed on the way. Men who were prospecting, have been shot. Packers and miners have been murdered, and the total loss of life foots up to a number we cannot estimate, until the bleached bones of the unknown victims are counted on the plains. Tens of thousands of dollars' worth of property has been lost, so that very frequently, worthy men who were thriving by arduous and patient toil, have become ruined in an hour.

It is not necessary to write a sensation history. The facts are simple and cannot be denied. The point we wish to discuss in this connection is: what can be done to open that whole country to the miner, to make travel safe from California to Idaho and from every point in Oregon to any and every point that lies to the westward of us? It is a favorite remark with some, that the miners can take care of themselves, which may be a truism in a measure, but the Government has always aimed to protect its citizens in the past and perhaps will in the future. One single expedition fitted out from Owyhee to hunt for Indians, cost the people there over $3,000, cash, and in addition there was valuable time lost amounting to more than as much more. The miners pay their tax to Government, and this is an addition they are illy able to stand.

At the present moment the United States has abundant forces at command and has the promise of peace. The regiments raised in Oregon have been induced to volunteer by the liberality of our State, and the State has a claim to their services which they can fully repay, by cleaning the Indians out of Eastern Oregon, opening that country to the influence of civilization and adding thereby to the general wealth and prosperity.

We understand this is the programme for the present season and hope to see it thoroughly carried out. California is competing for the Owyhee trade and travel, working against great odds that are in our favor, but if we neglect our opportunities we may suffer loss as a consequence. The road to Owyhee proper from the Columbia river, is from the Dalles to the west of Canyon City, so at least we imagine, and we think such a road would avoid the desert monotony of Snake river and could be laid over a better country for all practical purposes.

Such a road once made and traveled, would certainly develope the resources of the country for many one hundred and fifty miles this side of Owyhee, and might give the Legislature, at another session, cause to organize a new county of no mean importance. It is a decided necessity, at all events, that the Indians be made to behave themselves, and the State bounty will be well invested, if the young men who have been induced to enter the service, do the work all Oregon looks for them to do, of opening the whole extent of Southern Oregon to peaceful settlement.

UP COUNTRY ITEMS.—We find the following interesting news items in the Umatilla Advertiser:

Our little burg presented an unusual appearance last Sunday and the times seemed out of joint. Every business house in town, of hotels, restaurants, drug stores and barber shops are excepted, was closed and the Sunday law respected by all.

A letter dated May 4th, from La Grande, gives a few items. The Emigrant road is open. The Meacham road is undergoing repairs; miners are doing well at Eagle Creek; [illegible] & Smalley, of the Dalles, have taken a stock of goods to the mines; a dozen pack trains are down from the Boise basin; packers are in good spirits; weather pleasant; streams high.

The season, so far, has proved an unhealthy one for cattle thieves. Some time this spring, fifty eight head of beef cattle and thirty six horses were stolen from Walla Walla or near there. They were tracked two hundred miles in the direction of British Columbia, and overtaken. Two men, Corrigan French, proved to be the thieves and were secured with delays. Both were tied to horses and were being brought back to Walla Walla. One of them, named [illegible] attempted to make his escape while tied and was shot dead. The other, it appears, was well known to the Indians on the route; and as he had all the time protested his innocence of the theft, saying he was hired by the man who was shot, was not closely guarded, and had an opportunity of talking with the Indians, who assisted him to escape by furnishing a canoe to cross the river (what river we could not learn), and a horse to ride. He was seen as he was leaving, and four shots were fired after him, one of them passing through his hat, but he made good his escape, and doubtless his assertions of his innocence were untrue, as he took desperate chances to avoid being brought back.

We have news from Spokane. Six hundred men bound for Kootenai are camped there waiting for the snows to melt, and the roads to become passable. A terrible affair came off there not long since, and we get the particulars as follow: [illegible] Lloyd compelled a boy to mount a horse and swim the river, and both the boy and horse were drowned. Why the boy was sent across the river could not be learned. Two men [illegible] with Lloyd and talked of the affair in a manner that did not suit him, and he drew his revolver, shot one of them through the head, then turned upon the other, and with the butt of his pistol killed him. The story seems incredible, for how a double murder like this could have been committed and as many men about as is reported, is a mystery. Lloyd had the reputation of being a desperado, and probably had the crowd in awe of him; or the affair may have happened while there were but few men around. He made his escape, yet it is not likely he will be able to get out of the country, traveling being almost impossible in those regions from snows and swollen streams, and is settled to some extent in any direction he may go. Two parties were in pursuit. Lloyd was formerly a resident of this place, and kept a restaurant on Front street. He has a wife and children in San Francisco.

We find the following in the Walla Walla Statesman:

[illegible] Mr. [illegible] who [illegible] Walla Walla [illegible] on the [illegible] [illegible] Boise [illegible] [illegible] but [illegible] [illegible] throughout the country, [illegible], though efforts have been [illegible] on the Indians. Mr. [illegible] is [illegible] his hands and [illegible]

From Mr. [illegible], of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s [illegible] Express, we learn that about five miles of [illegible] the Grande Ronde valley is so [illegible] the stages cannot [illegible]. The [illegible] Mr. [illegible] coming through with his express, was compelled to travel through the water for about the [illegible] kinds of conveyances [illegible] and pack animals to [illegible] the valley presents the appearance of a vast lake. Many of [illegible] are completely inundated and the [illegible] move out of the [illegible]. [illegible] of wheat and oats sown last [illegible] were [illegible] under water, [illegible] The water was [illegible] Mr. Edgar came through, and [illegible] that the greater portion of the valley would be inundated.

Mr. [illegible] says that the water in Boise Basin, and Payette and Boise valleys are very high. The bridges have nearly all been swept away and the roads are in an almost impassible condition. The weather was very mild in the Basin and the snow was going off fast. Considerable damage was anticipated in the mines, from the washing away of flumes, ditches, &c.

All excitement in regard to Indian operations [illegible] subsided, and the country is again [illegible] to its former quiet. It is reported [illegible] what is said to be good authority, that a party of men followed a horse thief into the Blue mountains, near the head of the Umatilla, last week, captured him and nineteen stolen horses.

An alarm of fire yesterday, occasioned by the burning of the floor under the "range" of the [illegible] with the [illegible] and a [illegible] out of the kitchen of the hotel was the result.

The snow is still very deep on the mountains between Florence and Warren's mines, and it is thought that pack trains will not be able to pass over that route before the middle of June.

Accounts from the Kootenai road state that it is yet in an impassable condition. The snow is rapidly melting along the route, and the mud and water are now as much obstacles to travel as the snow has heretofore been.

Onions of this year's growth are now quite abundant in the Walla Walla market. There are are also a few radishes.

Capt. Borland's Company of the Oregon Infantry has been ordered to Fort Boise.

We see by the Radiator, of Lewiston, that a party have left there to prospect the newly discovered mines on Grand Ronde river, in Union County, Oregon, forty five miles northeast of Eagle Creek. The river was too high to favor them, but they found quartz indications and some gold in small pebbles. Everything appeared favorable, and they were much elated with the prospect. The Indians threatened trouble, but being friendly met by the miners, backed down and desisted from annoyance.

Alonzo Leland has retired from the editorial care of the Radiator, and is succeeded by T. J. Favorite.

The Radiator speaks of a road from Sioux City on the Missouri river, via East Bannock, in Montana, to Lewiston, which Congress has authorized and appropriated $110,000 to construct. We hope it may prove so.

On Friday of last week, Wm. Cussicks, formerly from Puget Sound, came to Lewiston to obtain nails for the ferry boat there building, and started back on Wednesday. His horse came into camp from the river, with saddle and bridle on, and wet. Afterwards, his gun and coat and a copy of the Radiator of April 8th, was found on this side of the river, but no man can be found. The indications are, that he attempted to swim with his horse, and was drowned.

THE OREGON RAILROAD BILL.—This measure, which we supposed had passed, seems to have failed. The Bulletin attributes its failure to Conness, and speaks of him as follows:

A bill granting ten sections of land per mile [illegible] of the California and Oregon Railroad to aid in the construction of that enterprise, which had been undertaken by companies in both the States named, was introduced by Congressman Cole in the House of Representatives at the last session of Congress. Washington telegrams and correspondents led to the impression here at one time that the bill had passed [illegible] of both Houses and had become a law. [illegible] an error. It passed the House without difficulty, though at a late day in the session, and would easily have passed the Senate and become a law but for the unwillingness of Mr. Conness to take hold, [illegible] at an early day, and have it reported upon by [illegible] could be [illegible] upon immediately on coming in to the House. The only reason assigned by Mr. Conness for refusing to interest himself in the matter, [illegible] on good authority, was [illegible] to have anything to do with a [illegible] with Mr. [illegible] with a jaundiced eye [illegible] the Senator that he allows his personal [illegible] to interfere with the performance of his public duty. The passage of this bill was asked for by the joint resolutions of the California and Oregon Legislatures, and would have secured the early commencement of railroad [illegible] two termini of the route, for capitalists here and at the East had taken an interest in the project and were only awaiting the extension of public aid. The Oregon Legislature had expressed its sense of the importance of the proposed improvement by enacting a law which provides for levying a tax of one mill on the dollar on all property in the State, which will realize about $[illegible] per annum, to be applied to the payment of interest on the construction bonds of the company which has in charge the Oregon half of the work. The measure will be presented to the next Congress, when it is to be hoped its friends will trust its fate in the Senate to other hands than those of a Senator with whom an unreasonable private grudge has more influence than considerations of public policy and duty.

The Mexican Embassy will be officially received by the Pope shortly.

[illegible] Legal Tender notes [illegible]
New York Gold Quotation [illegible]

[illegible] — A private letter [illegible] of this city, written by [illegible] under date of April [illegible] gives glowing [illegible] condition of the country, but states that provisions [illegible] and selling at famishing prices [illegible] worth 800 per cent, and bound to be had at [illegible] the cheapest article in the mines [illegible] living on a bill of beef [illegible] reported as having plenty [illegible] may almost any price [illegible] scarce—in fact there was [illegible] the mountains [illegible] had lately been discovered [illegible] from Virginia city [illegible] from 25 rods to [illegible] of Deer Lodge Valley [illegible] had been discovered [illegible] profitable mines, and the [illegible] It seems to us [illegible] mining regions might be [illegible] of the Willamette Valley [illegible] as to be ... rich as the best [illegible] Lewiston, Elk City, and the Nez Perce [illegible] will be found short and [illegible] route, either of [illegible]

[illegible] — [illegible] a few years since [illegible] that the enterprise [illegible] in East Portland [illegible] projectors [illegible] has it been [illegible] accomplished [illegible] of crumpling [illegible] capital, and a [illegible] of the building [illegible] all who seek for [illegible] by additions [illegible] two stories high [illegible] present buildings. The main building [illegible] be raised one story, making [illegible] A North wing, 40 by [illegible] will be put up at the same time [illegible] institution will continue [illegible] of the premises [illegible] brought after a design by Mr. [illegible] of this case in present use.

[illegible] — By the arrival of the [illegible] on Tuesday night, we have the [illegible] The Commissioners of [illegible] county have contracted [illegible] of a wooden building [illegible] a sum of $1,200. The season for [illegible] and those delicious fish [illegible] A sturgeon weighing [illegible] and measuring over eight feet in length [illegible] in their vicinity. The town Trustees [illegible] years agitation of the matter, have [illegible] place for a cemetery. Five acres of [illegible] donated, and two acres purchased, 100 rods [illegible] for the purpose. On the first, "May [illegible] of Astoria and Clatsop Plains [illegible] by sloops, to Point Adams, the Brass Band of [illegible] accompanying them. After crowning Miss [illegible] "Queen of the May," the party returned [illegible] and concluded the festivities of the day [illegible] the Court House.

[illegible] — A copy of the Red Bluff [illegible] says: "On Tuesday last [illegible] and Idaho Saddle Train started from Red [illegible] under the superintendence of Wm. Nalten. The [illegible] in a jolly mood, expecting to make the [illegible] FOURTEEN days. Capital are [illegible] accompanies the train from Fort [illegible] event transpired in March or April [illegible] are informed that parties who have [illegible] the present season, and [illegible] returned to San Francisco [illegible] river route have [illegible] whose statements we [illegible] on the 4th page of to-day's paper [illegible] from San Francisco to Boise or Owyhee [illegible]

[illegible] — Our views in relation to [illegible] for a Reform School, we are pleased to [illegible] communications, and conversation with [illegible] citizens, is generally concurred in [illegible] used against the proposition is the [illegible] the erection of buildings. We can [illegible] and keep pace with a progressive age [illegible] expense, but to obviate the difficulty of [illegible] now we recommend a conference of the [illegible] with Messrs. Hawthorn & Loryea. They are [illegible] to the institution across the river [illegible] to enter upon favorable terms with [illegible] keeping her wayward youth.

[illegible] — Yesterday a great stir was [illegible] attending Richardson's Auction sale [illegible] that next the Auctioneer would dispose of [illegible] "contents unknown." "It might contain [illegible] and just as likely be filled with brick bats." [illegible] takes all the chances." The scheme [illegible] commenced. "One dollar," [illegible] boldly knocked in two [illegible] pieces, and the crowd hovered [illegible] the trunk, which was supposed to be a Pandora's box, when some scrutinizing "cuss" [illegible] something infernal, and it immediately [illegible] We did not learn which was the [illegible] trunk or the man that bought it.

[illegible] — It seems to us something is lacking [illegible] of efficiency, in giving the fire alarms in this [illegible] may be clearly understood. It is well [illegible] known, when the bells ring, that a fire exists [illegible] of it is the plunge to everybody. We [illegible] every other manner needful rules and regulations [illegible] out of our efficient department, and can [illegible] be so systematized that the bells may toll [illegible] Ward? On Tuesday evening, and on many [illegible] we have noticed vexatious delay [illegible]

[illegible] — We find the following in that excellent [illegible] A Home Journal, which has a special [illegible] to this community. Parents may take it home [illegible] their benefit: "Who ever saw a boy [illegible] that did not make a dissolute, shameless [illegible] when he became a man? The great mass [illegible] criminals and paupers, have come [illegible] of parents and guardians when [illegible] were permitted to grow up in idleness [illegible] just as certain as the truth that a crooked [illegible] a crooked tree. Those who constitute the [illegible] of the community, those who make our [illegible] men were taught in their boyhood to [illegible] industrious."

[illegible] Court.—The time in Circuit Court yesterday [illegible] occupied in motions in cases of law [illegible] of cases, and ordering the publication of notices [illegible] defendants are non residents. In the case of [illegible] vs. Ankeny, W. W. Chapman for plaintiff, and [illegible] Kelly and Strong for defendant, being on [illegible] property on Front street, a motion to [illegible] and strike complaint from the docket was [illegible] and the case continued until the next term.

[illegible] — Barnum is an energetic fellow. He [illegible] to drive a trade. He sets a good example [illegible] by public spirited go-ahead-itiveness [illegible] Coming into Portland a stranger, he took a [illegible] was not a popular place for even a [illegible] but he does not seem to grumble about dull times [illegible] anywhere, and that is what we like [illegible] any part of the State from this [illegible] has been in advance of [illegible]

[illegible] Theatre.—By a programme received at this [illegible] learn of the opening of this new place of [illegible] at Fort Vancouver. This evening a new comedy [illegible] "The Little Treasure," will be enacted [illegible] Allen, Wm. Burton, Miss Belle Divine, and little [illegible] are among the leading performers. We wish the [illegible] success, and the Theatre a test of [illegible] crowd.

[illegible] and Exchange.—There were but [illegible] regular meeting of the Portland Stock and Exchange [illegible] yesterday, and the report shows sales [illegible] Quartermasters [illegible] Legal Tender notes [illegible]

[illegible] — The O. S. N. Company and the [illegible] Company have placed tickets at half fare to [illegible] attend the fourth annual communication [illegible] W. Grand Lodge to be held at Salem [illegible] the 17th inst.

Notes of a Trip to Owyhee

FROM SAN FRANCISCO TO PORTLAND

EDITOR [illegible]: Having [illegible] so much in the newspapers relative to the rival [illegible] between the [illegible] from [illegible] may be [illegible] to show through [illegible] the travel between them [illegible] San Francisco [illegible] by way of Portland and Columbia river, the other by way of Red Bluff and across the plains [illegible]. Having passed over a great part of the last named route, and having traveled through the mining regions of the Pacific coast during the greater part of the last six years, after observing the marked improvements that have been made in modes of travel and means of transportation through sections of country which seemed impervious, I would deem it folly to say that the Red Bluff route is wholly impracticable or that it is impossible to successfully accomplish it. The experience of the past ten years shows that there is no such thing as an impossibility where gold is the object sought for. Where gold exists, enterprise will always find a way to reach it.

The Red Bluff route, like all new enterprises, will have its peculiar difficulties to contend with. I have no doubt, from the knowledge I possess of the country, that in a much less time than is looked for, the great obstacles [illegible] will be surmounted, and a very good road opened for pack and freight trains the entire distance to Owyhee. It will also be traveled by some of the thousands that constitute the vast throng yearly going to and returning from the mines of the North. The hardy miner who is accustomed to camp and mountain life, or who would prefer to spread his blanket under a shrub and there enjoy a night's repose, rather than to occupy the easiest couch refined life could afford him, may often go that way. By this class the Red Bluff road will be chiefly traveled. Those who have traveled the old route by way of Portland for the past three years, and who know the conveniences it affords, will not [illegible] exchange the comforts of speedy travel for the dangers that beset a road through a new and unsettled country.

In fact there are but few and they the most miserly, who, when they view the contrast between the two routes, will decide to take the new one, leading as it does through a difficult country with nothing to break the monotony of the trip. Travelers on that road will have to be constantly on their guard against the Indians and the great labor of making the trip will make the route an undesirable one. The method of reaching the mines by way of Portland is much easier and less expensive, and though the distance is greater, much the quicker route. The travel by ocean, river and railroad is very agreeable and you are continually refreshed by new scenes while the monotony of your trip is relieved by the new and different modes of conveyance which you are furnished with.

The traveler takes steamship from San Francisco to Portland—time three and a half days. He sees much to divert his mind. After a time he reaches the Columbia river. Formerly the bar was full of dangers. Skillful pilots now take his vessel safely over. He sees the lofty mountains far before him and the foam of the breakers around him. The ship passes over the bar and glides into the smooth waters beyond. The traveler is now on the bosom of the Columbia. Beautiful scenes now engage his attention. The forest rises up on either side of him. Soon the ship reaches the town of Astoria. Here is a small village and one which presents a neat and active appearance. After a stay of a few minutes the steamer proceeds on her way. Having made about one hundred miles she enters the Willamette. Twelve miles up this stream, and the traveler arrives at Portland.

Portland is a town of about 6,000 inhabitants. The result of a game of chance gave it its name. Its two first proprietors it is said could not agree upon a name for the infant city, one insisting on calling it Boston, the other wishing to name it Portland. The die was cast and PORTLAND won.

Most persons bound for the mines pass through this city without trying to learn anything of its history or resources. Thus they know as little of it as if they had never visited it, yet, perhaps, afterwards speak in depreciation of its importance. A week's or a month's observation would convince such persons as these that their estimate of Portland is an erroneous one. Its rapid growth and flourishing condition sufficiently attest its importance to the whole Northern coast.

UP THE COLUMBIA.

The traveler wishing to proceed on his way toward the north and east will find the steamboat Wilson G. Hunt ready at early dawn to receive him. It is not necessary to give a further description of this boat other than to say that it is a large side wheel steamer belonging to the Oregon Steam Navigation Company. The traveler passes down the Willamette to its confluence with the Columbia. From the [illegible] up the last named river [illegible] Vancouver. This town is on the Washington Territory side of the stream and [illegible] upon a beautiful site. From Vancouver the river winds its way past craggy points [illegible] opening of low flat land [illegible] high rugged banks rush numerous streams [illegible] melting snows of the mountains, making majestic waterfalls, many of which [illegible] of over one thousand feet. The water [illegible] into spray, forming a spectacle [illegible] and grandeur [illegible] gazing upon the [illegible] gorge and emerge [illegible] the river [illegible] Mount Hood is visible in all its majesty [illegible] in its snowy shroud. The attempt has [illegible] made to describe [illegible] mountain [illegible] vain. What more [illegible] than to gaze [illegible] of a scene which the most imaginative mind has been unable to portray!

Arriving at a point [illegible] promontory named Cape Horn, another wild scene is presented. What [illegible] here witnessed baffles all power of description. Nothing elsewhere [illegible]

[illegible]

The whole distance from the [illegible] to Dalles [illegible] Dalles is reached [illegible] have been passed [illegible] morning.

DALLES CITY.

Dalles City is a place of about 2,000 inhabitants. All are doing [illegible] hotels [illegible] travelers. The night must be passed here [illegible] affording an opportunity during the evening [illegible] the improvements that have of late been made about the town. The O. S. N. Co. have erected a fine large depot at this place [illegible] for their steamers to land at during the [illegible] full of the river. They have also machine shops at this point where they repair their boats and cars or construct new ones. All along the line we see [illegible] the Company's great energy in prosecuting the work which they are engaged in.

The following morning the traveler leaves the Dalles [illegible] to [illegible] a distance of twelve miles [illegible] through the town and over the broken hilly country [illegible]

[illegible]

Hotel [illegible] is now at the [illegible] the fatigues of the trip and the [illegible] scenery he beholds upon the route [illegible]. To witness the beauties and rare freaks of nature it is no longer necessary to travel in foreign lands. [illegible] on the river Rhine.

It the [illegible] of the United States [illegible] the war just [illegible] the National Debt [illegible] widows and orphans who have [illegible] the rate of interest is lower than that [illegible]

That the United States will be able [illegible] England [illegible] that country has borne and [illegible] It is a matter of history that England grew rich [illegible] in spite of it until she became the richest nation on earth. [illegible] twenty-two years of war with France, in which [illegible] per cent. of which was [illegible] we have [illegible] our war expenditure, in this comparative statement we are entitled to say that England [illegible] $2,000,000,000 just at the close of the great rebellion [illegible] emerged from her long wars, and the latter became rich while carrying its burden of taxation [illegible] only two-fifths [illegible] England [illegible]

How stand the comparative facts? In 1816, [illegible] of Great Britain was [illegible] 19,000,000. In 1864 the population of the loyal States was 23,000,000. In 1816 the value [illegible] was estimated at [illegible] 000,000. In the same year the value [illegible] in the loyal American States was estimated at $16,395,000,000. [illegible] value of [illegible] $1,800,000,000 [illegible] the loyal States had a value of $[illegible] 500,000,000. Thus it will be seen that we have [illegible] in property, and 110 per cent. in annual products. When the war is over and the South returns to [illegible] of sugar, [illegible] shall have [illegible] of at least 10,000,000 to assist in paying the national debt.

[illegible] debt [illegible] the national debt [illegible] United States are only at the very threshold of their development. England [illegible] the only means of [illegible]

ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies), or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.
